Introduction

Your birth chart is a snapshot of your physical, emotional, mental and spiritual potential. It indicates the strengths you began with, and also shows your potential for the future. As soon as you were born, the planets started moving forward.

Astrology provides the best, most complete guide for human development available today. This interpretation considers astrological indicators, providing information that is largely missing from current developmental research and family history.

Each planet has a specific role in development. As you look at indicators associated with each of the planets, you will see the kinds of developmental challenges you have already met, as well as strengths and weaknesses you have to work with now or in the future.

The cycles of the planets vary in length. Basically, the longer the cycle, the later in life a particular developmental demand is encountered and addressed. For example, you experienced every possible aspect of the Moon within one lunar month of your birth date, whereas No one experiences the full cycle of Neptune and Pluto because those cycles are 165 and 249 years long.

As you read through your interpretation, there will be indicators that mean little to you because you don't remember that period of your life, and there is no one in your family who remembers either. Other developmental markers will scream 'YES, YES, YES!' to you. When you get to the part of the interpretation that corresponds to your present age, you can shift your thoughts to the future. You will see possibilities laid out before you, and you can take charge of your life in a whole new way.

The First Two Years of Your Life

It's likely that you know very little about the first two years of your life, and that you remember almost nothing. However, those two years set the tone for your entire future. Here are a few examples, based on the astrological factors in play during the first two years of life, and on developmental guidelines widely accepted in child development literature:

- * Your body weight went from between five and ten pounds at birth (for most infants) to about 24 to 34 pounds. Naturally some children fall outside these norms, yet are perfectly healthy. You probably tripled or quadrupled in weight.
- * Your height went from about 18 to 22 inches to about 34 to 42 inches. Height varies a great deal at this age, but you nearly doubled in height in two years. One estimate of adult height is to double the height at age two, so you were half way to your adult height at age two.
- * Your brain went from about 370 grams in weight to about 1080 grams-almost tripled in size! Although your brain had almost all of its neurons when you were born, it continued to grow at this rapid rate to provide cells to nourish the brain, insulate the nervous system, and clean up any dead neurons.
- * By age two, you had a rudimentary sense of separateness from other people. Before age two, understanding separateness was at best vague.
- * By age two, you had developed a basic capacity for empathy.
- * You had also developed a remarkably complex set of social skills. You could smile, cry or demand attention in other ways, interact with adults and children, and understand and use language. You had preferences for some people over others.
- * You could walk, tiptoe, and climb. You could hold and throw objects, pick up small and large objects, and carry things.

The above introductory information summarizes the many interactions of the Moon, the Sun, Mercury, Venus, and Mars during the first two years of life, and the first indicator for Jupiter as well. As you can see, two-year-olds are amazingly capable human beings. The first two years of life have physical, mental, emotional, and even spiritual implications for the entire rest of your life. Astrology provides a definitive picture of that potential, while social and cultural settings provide nurturing and education that also impact your development.

The rest of the report looks at the outer planets - Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune, and Pluto - and their motion to provide a developmental map of your life.

The dates included in the report indicate when certain aspects (angular relationships) first occurred. The dates will often coincide closely with your actual experiences. When they do not, you may see a pattern involving the family or social sphere that promoted or delayed physical development, social activity, mental growth, or spiritual insight. The apparent motion of planets sometimes allows them to seem to form the same aspect more than once in a short period of time. If this occurs, you may experience times when you felt ready for something indicated in this report, but found that you didn't quite experience it until a few months later. This is a natural occurrence because developmental achievements rarely happen all at once on a certain date, but unfold over a period of time before and after the exact date of the aspect.

Please note that certain astrological factors are in play for significantly longer periods of time both before and after the date noted. These have been identified as long-term and very long-term aspects.

Transit Jupiter semi-sextile Jupiter - 17 February 1840 - Age 1

At this time you experienced successes in many activities that required massive effort to learn.

Transit Jupiter semi-square Jupiter - 9 December 1840 - Age 1

You probably began asking questions more. This indicates mental development required for performing processes that include more than one step, thinking about different attitudes in people at different times, and lengthening attention span.

Progressed Moon semi-sextile Moon - 26 February 1841 - Age 2

[Long-term effect]

Intense 'work' took place on your part to grow and learn. Although attention spans were often rather short, the intensity of effort was visible on your face, and felt in the tensing of other muscles.

At this early age, you experienced the immediate world around you. You probably had toys of your own, and you certainly began to learn the concept of possession, if not ownership. No longer completely dependent on your caregivers, you had the ability to feed yourself, to choose your clothing, and to work, play, and learn.

Your motor skills had developed so you could pick up, hold, and throw objects. Your inquisitiveness had doubtless gotten you into some difficulties. By now you were more self-sufficient - you could spend time playing without someone constantly helping you. However, you still needed very close supervision because of your lack of caution.

Transit Jupiter sextile Jupiter - 5 March 1841 - Age 2

The emphasis was on new relationships and the development of communication skills. The key was the power of communication in your environment. The process of measuring personal needs and desires against the environment outside the body was begun in earnest. You learned effective or not so effective methods of relating to the world, and thereby getting needs met.

Transit Saturn semi-sextile Saturn - 13 January 1842 - Age 2

Second molars emerged, and you were capable of chewing and eating most foods. Canines also emerged at or just after this age.

Transit Jupiter square Jupiter - 17 March 1842 - Age 3

Here the crisis was one of choice. You chose the way to go, and then worked within the limits of that path. There was focus of intention. The focus was on action-social skills learned here carried through all future cycles.

A bit of wisdom is usually learned here: when faced with a choice, you could do both things, but you had to figure out the appropriate moments for each choice as much as possible. For example, when out of the house, you probably had to act more grown up. When at home, you could usually get what you needed by using less grown up tactics- you may have reverted to crying, shouting, or pounding on something to get attention.

Progressed Moon semi-square Moon - 21 March 1842 - Age 3

[Long-term effect]

You may have experienced emotional stress due to your physical growth or your expansion outside the family to make friends in the neighborhood. Your relationship with your mother may have changed as you moved from babyhood into childhood.

At this age you probably demonstrated a capacity for internal mental processes. No longer simply expressing, you paid more conscious attention to caregivers, siblings, and other people. You showed that you cared about some things deeply, that you like some foods and refused others, and that you had a mind of your own.

You also began to show warmth and caring for other people more. You began to understand that other people had experiences that were different from yours and not part of you at all. You may have been quite attached to one of your parents.

Transit Saturn semi-square Saturn - 28 February 1843 - Age 4

The roots of baby teeth were all completely formed. You had a lot more imagination about where to go and what to do than your almost four-year-old capacities could manage. You may have felt that others were constantly trying to hold you back. Although you got plenty of encouragement in some directions, you felt restrained in others. There may have been strong evidence of the development of will power, both for getting things done, and for waiting for things to happen.

Transit Jupiter trine Jupiter - 27 March 1843 - Age 4

At this stage, you were probably willing to take some risks. Other people probably observed that you had absorbed certain values. There was a need to gain self-assurance through practice and through trying new things. This is the age when the question 'why' became a prominent feature in conversations. You knew that there were usually reasons for different things, and wanted to know what those reasons were.

Progressed Moon sextile Moon - 15 April 1843 - Age 4

[Long-term effect]

You used every opportunity to imitate the parents and others in the immediate environment. Social learning accelerated. You were more willing to carry on a conversation, talk on the telephone, and express your ideas to parents and others.

At this age your mind was like a tape recorder. You were somewhat restless, wanting to see and do everything. You had a rather short attention span, yet could focus intently for short periods. You may not have had any specific, serious interests, choosing instead to try anything and everything.

Around this age you were actively learning symbols, such as the alphabet and numbers. You also were learning to draw, and your figures were gaining more detail. You began to explore a larger neighborhood, and you knew how to get home from nearby locations.

Your physical coordination was developing rapidly, and along with it, your capacity to get into mischief.

Transit Jupiter sesqui-square Jupiter - 31 January 1844 - Age 5

During this period you wrestled with the concept that games have rules that don't change. You tended to change the rules to suit your needs. You also may have felt stressed by the need to tell the truth vs. the desire to make up imaginative answers when you had a problem. You may have enjoyed role playing and dressing up in costumes.

Transit Jupiter quincunx Jupiter - 3 April 1844 - Age 5

There were adjustments to increasing social activities and introduction to formal schooling. Parents expected to see evidence of your values, and of increasing capacity for teamwork.

Transit Saturn sextile Saturn - 10 January 1845 - Age 5

At this age, baby teeth began to come out in preparation for permanent teeth. Between now and age seven, the first molars erupted. Beginning school offered an opportunity to develop social skills and to accept a new level of responsibility for yourself.

Transit Jupiter opposition Jupiter - 12 April 1845 - Age 6

You may have tried to establish perfect relationships with other people. You showed a degree of adaptability in social situations. Ideally there was a more expansive sense of self-confidence. There was a sense of personal power ('I can not only do this, but I can do it well, and I can choose to do it too.').

You may have had strong ideas about what you wanted to be when you grew up. You could respond to 'What if' questions. Some six year olds are able to recognize strangers' faces when they see them for the second time, but this skill may not develop until much later. Probably you could climb, dance, and describe yourself in physical terms.

Boys are often about six months behind girls in both physical and emotional development at this age.

Progressed Moon square Moon - 14 June 1845 - Age 6

[Long-term effect]

At this age you were beginning to truly understand the values you had been taught. For example, rather than simply knowing that you might be punished for being naughty, you learned how to figure out if you were doing something bad. The sense of right and wrong up to this point was almost totally dependent on what you had been taught.

Another striking development was your ability to insulate yourself from the world. You learned that your inner self was something to be protected, and you learned how to take on at least part of the protective role. You may have spent periods of time mulling over your thoughts, and others may have perceived you as being rather sensitive.

You were able to learn and perform household chores and other tasks, and remember how to do them.

Transit Uranus semi-sextile Uranus - 29 March 1846 - Age 7

At this age you probably gained a richer sense of possibilities for jokes and riddles because your cognitive abilities were expanding rapidly. Looking back, you may recall instances when intuition was active, such as foreseeing events that the people around you either did not see or actively denied, yet those events came about very much as you predicted.

Transit Jupiter quincunx Jupiter - 22 April 1846 - Age 7

There was a basic understanding of ambiguity. For example, you knew that mother and father did not always agree, and yet both of them were right to some degree. The capacity to form an opinion was probably in place. At this age you were expected to understand the difference between right and wrong, whereas earlier you only understood consequences, and had to ask of something was okay or not.

You understood that certain words have two meanings. This Jupiter moment shares in the nature of Uranus, in that intuition is a component of recognizing subtleties of meaning, and the nature of jokes. You also incorporated an understanding of words that are pronounced the same, but have different meanings (spelling may or may not have been part of this understanding).

Transit Jupiter sesqui-square Jupiter - 26 June 1846 - Age 7

You had moments when you are outgoing and optimistic, yet in between you had times when you were painfully shy, especially when trying something for the first time. Sometimes you were afraid to try new things, not because you couldn't do them but because you didn't know how to get started. You probably began to question why you were alive, and what death is all about.

Transit Saturn square Saturn - 29 March 1847 - Age 8

Up to this time, you were primarily part of a close-knit family group. And you had basic survival skills to step out of the nuclear family into the immediate neighborhood to meet other children, relate to caretakers outside the household, and begin regular schooling. By this age, you saw yourself as separate from parents and siblings. In fact, around age seven, you may have felt somewhat isolated, while also enjoying a new sense of independence.

On the physical level, you were able to climb, and you were probably fairly cautious when climbing trees or ladders. You developed more fluid handwriting. In addition, you had a clear sense of concrete operations, such as the steps involved in performing specific tasks. The perception of diagonal lines and diamond shapes was gained. Adult first molars and incisors erupted.

You developed a much better sense of time. You understood the concepts of future and past more fully, and you indicated this through fairly sophisticated conversation, such as 'I just had a birthday last week, so it will be along time before I have the next one.' This sentence indicates a grasp of before, later, and sequential events. Understanding time may have paralleled evidence of greater patience.

Mentally you could remember and repeat sets of five numbers in a row. The concept of differences of opinion was learned. Awareness of the relationship between cause and effect was in place, although obscure relationships were probably missed. You were capable of understanding rather complex jokes, and even made jokes yourself.

A very important developmental marker at this age was the understanding of right and wrong. Individual rules were recognized as part of a systematic structure that was generalized into a code. You internalized the 'feeling' of rightness or wrongness of your actions, and gradually learned to make your own decisions. While a child of two or three looks to an adult authority figure for information about appropriate action, at this time you learned to look within yourself for this information.

There was a growing sense of responsibility for personal actions, and also a greater feeling of significance as an individual. Along with self awareness came the capacity to question authority of parents and other adults.

Transit Jupiter trine Jupiter - 5 May 1847 - Age 8

After a possibly stressful time, by now you had a greater capacity to manage interactions within your social system. The basis for moral and ethical values was developed around this age. In addition, there developed the capacity to learn more mature approaches to solving problem that had already been met in the past. A sense of fairness emerged.

There was a greater understanding of the difference between fantasy and reality. This point deserves major consideration. After all, if Wily Coyote in Road Runner cartoons lives to see another day after falling off a cliff, why doesn't Johnny get up and play after falling off the porch? And how come we can see actors after they have been shot and killed in movies, but not someone we know who has died? You may have had terrifying dreams after watching scary movies!

Progressed Moon trine Moon - 3 September 1847 - Age 8

[Long-term effect]

Around this time your first interest in the opposite sex may have developed. Parental lore suggests that girls get 'catty' at this age, while boys tend to 'join the pack.' While actual sexual activity may have been delayed for some time, interest was awakened around this age, and attention to sexual themes may have become evident.

This was the time when early peer group attachments developed. You wanted to belong to the group, and you may have struggled with the feelings aroused when you were not invited to participate. In addition, you may have begun to obey your parents less and tried to please peers more.

You may have had to compete for attention, and the budding actor in you had a chance to get some time on stage. You may have sought praise from both parents and peers.

Transit Jupiter square Jupiter - 1 October 1847 - Age 8

This was a readjustment period. You measured results of your actions, and the moral sense developed further. You may have chosen to be more yourself and less what others wanted. A second choice may have led you to set higher or different goals. A third possibility was to contribute spiritually to the world. Social relationships were sought that reflected your own higher purpose.

By this age, language skills generally included the capacity to use irregular plurals, such as women and mice, instead of womans and mouses.

Transit Jupiter sextile Jupiter - 16 October 1848 - Age 9

By age ten, you had chosen a path, adjusted behavior to suit your developing sense of ethics and morals, and reconsidered goals in view of your growing sense of social involvement. There was an opportunity to see what you truly wanted for yourself and for your friends. You sought new horizons in thinking and actions. Group activities played a greater part in moving you ahead in life.

Progressed Moon sesqui-square Moon - 23 October 1848 - Age 9

[Long-term effect]

Sexual attitudes became more defined, whether you were actively aware of them or not. You may have experienced internal struggles and even agitation due to the ebb and flow of peer relationships.

Nearing the age when you were expected to act more like an adult, you still had moments when you were totally a child. Mentally your memory and thinking skills became more refined, and you began to understand logic and analytical problems more clearly.

Transit Uranus semi-square Uranus - 6 June 1849 - Age 10

Clarifying your mind may have been stressful at this time. You saw yourself moving toward the teen years and adulthood, you were growing rapidly and your mind was working constantly. You developed the ability to forecast outcomes of your behavior, as well as events caused by other people. You developed greater ego strength as your mental abilities improved. Intuition may have become a more powerful part of your decision-making mechanism.

Transit Saturn trine Saturn - 24 June 1849 - Age 10

At around this age, you developed the ability to remember the faces of strangers (a remarkable 'social' skill considering that most early childhood learning involves repetitive practice). You were aware of bodily changes. You may have collected things.

Transit Jupiter semi-square Jupiter - 27 August 1849 - Age 10

Stresses at school or within your family or peer group provide ground for development of ideas concerning injustice. A lack of internal harmony could lead you to go along with your peer group, even if their actions are not consistent with values you have been taught.

Transit Jupiter semi-sextile Jupiter - 11 November 1849 - Age 10

There may have been adjustments in personal relationships. These included family members, teachers, and friends. Adjustments may have been rather painful, and at the same time beneficial.

Progressed Moon quincunx Moon - 22 December 1849 - Age 10

[Long-term effect]

You could memorize without any reflection upon meaning, but may have had a hard time paraphrasing something.

Entering adolescence around this time, you probably felt like you 'knew it all,' even though you encountered new subjects and ideas just about every day. School and everyday family activities felt boring and tedious.

Now you learned that bad things could happen to you regardless of how careful you were, or how hard your parents tried to avoid them. As you became more independent, your parents may have become stricter. Your criticisms of your parents began to have more substance and logic behind them.

Your understanding of your own health and the physical changes you were experiencing became a focal point. Emotionally you acted independent, but probably needed bolstering more than you let on.

Transit Jupiter conjunct Jupiter - 12 December 1850 - Age 11

This is the time of coming of age ceremonies around the world. There was a shift from childhood to a more grown up phase. I purposely do not use the word adult here because twelve year olds are not emotionally ready for adult responsibilities. Physically the onset of puberty is a key focus of attention. It is time to assimilate a larger biological and psychological consciousness. This was a time when your habits could be changed. It was a time to take the initiative. You may have felt some moral conflicts at this point. You probably felt capable and in control of your life.

Transit Saturn sesqui-square Saturn - 2 April 1851 - Age 12

Bicuspids generally emerged around this age. Impulses that were more instinctive before this time became more consciously directed. You could develop and sustain a plan without much guidance. You could take on independent learning projects. Evaluation skills became stronger.

Transit Neptune semi-sextile Neptune - 18 March 1852 - Age 13

[Long-term effect]

Psychic ability may have first emerged. Many teenagers have flashes of telekinesis, clairvoyance, and other extrasensory abilities. Dreams about your future became part of your planning, although there may have been little in the way of action taken.

Transit Saturn quincunx Saturn - 27 April 1852 - Age 13

The second molars emerged. Pubic hair may have developed. At this time you found that others expected more adult behavior from you. This meant dropping child-like activities in favor of more adult behaviors. You may have been allowed to baby sit for younger children, for example.

Progressed Moon opposition Moon - 21 May 1852 - Age 13

[Long-term effect]

You had greater emotional awareness of self and perhaps of others. This was a period where greater objectivity may have emerged as well. You were probably more aware of responses coming from within yourself. You may also have been more curious about how instincts and emotions worked for other people.

Your emotional attention at this time was directly on 'the other.' Ties to parents shifted toward peers, particularly those of the opposite sex. These peer interactions stirred your awareness of the differences between you and your caregivers, and you perceived flaws in your long-standing emotional relationships. You may have learned about how to argue more effectively, and hopefully learned that you could disagree without blaming each other.

You probably learned a lot about balancing your own needs against those of the people around you. Whether your progress toward independence moved swiftly or slowly at this time, you probably felt strong urges to do something, even if it was wrong. If your attitude was more relentless, you learned how to persist until you got your way. A third possibility involved dabbling in lots of activities and changing your mind frequently.

Transit Uranus sextile Uranus - 27 May 1853 - Age 14

Sexual and emotional opportunities arise. The desire to reach out to form strong relationships with people in the peer group reflects a growing desire for independence.

Transit Saturn opposition Saturn - 13 June 1854 - Age 15

The teen years were filled with a sense of crisis for most people. Profound physical and sexual changes were in process. Emotions swung from adult, independent assurance to child-like dependence. Undisciplined emotions led to rebellion, with disastrous results if you didn't develop behavioral limits. Defiance, something that younger children are generally afraid of, flared.

You may have felt frustration when trying to resolve difficult situations, or pursued a black-and-white thinking style with little capacity for synthesis. By this time, ideally you moved from primarily inductive thinking toward using the deductive style of reasoning. This provided the opportunity to abandon somewhat unpredictable patterns of thinking and take up a more precise, definite, secure mental style. Much of the world seemed logical and rational. Critical evaluation ability and abstract thinking developed around this age. Both benefited from practice.

Unpredictable emotional floods contradicted this new style of thinking. You may have blamed others for your difficulties. Parents or immediate caregivers were likely targets for these negative emotions, while more positive feelings were reserved for peers. Expression of sexuality became an issue. Even though this may have been a painful time, it was important for you to take this time to more fully understand changing emotions, physical responses, and mental capabilities.

Progressed Moon quincunx Moon - 24 November 1854 - Age 15

By this time maturation of thought processes had probably occurred. As you gained awareness of instinctual responses, you also developed the capacity for abstract thinking. This lunar progression often coincides with Saturn's opposition, and this pairing of the Moon and Saturn reflects the two capacities required for abstract thinking: an inner sense of the unseen, and an outer awareness and capacity for analysis in the concrete world.

Even though you felt grown up and independent part of the time, you still needed the support and boundaries provided by parents, teachers, and rules. Around this time your awareness of your sexuality was fully in place, and the resulting tensions upset your recently acquired emotional equilibrium. Your capacity to balance out feelings and needs seemed to abandon you from time to time, and you may have felt insecure in relationships.

Add to this the fact that you were moving from home and high school into career or college, and you had plenty to be anxious about. You may also have experimented with drugs, alcohol, or cigarettes, along with sex. Even if you did none of these things, you wondered about them, especially if your friends tried them.

You may have encountered your first love around this time.

Progressed Moon sesqui-square Moon - 2 March 1856 - Age 17

[Long-term effect]

During this time you felt quite adult in certain respects, and yet occasionally felt rather child-like in your attitudes or responses to others. You may have had to work quite hard to establish and maintain your position as an individual.

At this time your emotions probably turned inward. The agitation you felt was not so evident to others, partly because you had learned to contain your feelings more completely.

Issues that likely arose concerned your creative talents and how to apply them, as well as your continued dependence on others for material support. Along with these very real problems, you may have experienced ups and downs in your level of self-esteem. Circumstances may have thrown curve balls that you were not prepared to face. Through no fault of your own, you encountered doubts about yourself and anxiety about your future.

Transit Saturn quincunx Saturn - 25 July 1856 - Age 17

The long bones in arms and legs fused, ending further lengthening, around age seventeen or eighteen. In your social sphere, you may have taken a job outside the family home around this time. You could have felt somewhat isolated as you tried to make major adjustments, such as going away to college.

Progressed Moon trine Moon - 7 June 1857 - Age 18

By this time you probably accepted a lot of new ideas, and your personal values were undergoing change. You set your direction so that you could avoid the mistakes you saw in your parents, other caregivers, and peers. You may have felt that you were more invincible than they.

Generally, even though life was not entirely smooth, you felt better about yourself. Probably you had experiences that felt like personal successes and you relaxed into the flow of life more easily. You were more certain that you could handle your own problems, and you may have developed a more practical approach to life. Emotions settled into a more consistent pattern, and your self-analysis showed that you were able to respond to others without great emotional distress.

Transit Saturn sesqui-square Saturn - 15 August 1857 - Age 18

Wisdom teeth may have appeared, although the time period can vary from around 15 to around 20. Some people never develop the third molars. Emotional, mental, and spiritual wisdom all provided focus for your activities at this stage. You may have learned greater patience, for example, especially if you were involved in the care and teaching of younger children.

Transit Neptune semi-square Neptune - 27 May 1858 - Age 19

[Long-term effect]

You have absorbed massive amounts of information before this time. Now you were faced with the task of internalizing facts, ideas, opinions, or moral and ethical principles provided by other people. You discovered, possibly to your own discomfort, that you disagreed with some of what you have been told. You also found that when you attempted to apply logic to your questions, you didn't get satisfying answers in every case. You learned how to pay attention to your own psychic insights and mesh them with the input you received from other people.

Transit Saturn trine Saturn - 7 September 1858 - Age 19

You identified and understood adult levels of responsibility. You had the chance to work with adult and adult activities, generally without the full weight of economic and social responsibility of adulthood.

Progressed Moon square Moon - 20 November 1859 - Age 20

By this time you were an adult in the legal sense. You may not have been completely independent from your parents, but you were much more on your own. Two possible directions emerged. You may have continued to resist Mom and Dad, seeking your own direction in life. If that became tiresome, you may have given in and become what they wanted you to be, giving up some of your own dreams in the process.

This was a time of assertive effort, one way or the other. You faced real challenges, and you may have wondered why they caused you so much upset. You sought independence and your emotions flared when you sensed its lack. Even though you may have perceived a need to change your emotional responses, you resisted. Or possibly you changed at the drop of a hat and wondered if you would ever gain a degree of stability. Or all of the above.

Transit Uranus square Uranus - 8 July 1860 - Age 21

There is a mental crisis. Sense of the future - intuition - strives to see what is ahead. Learns new ways of planning for the future.

Transit Saturn square Saturn - 1 November 1860 - Age 21

The third major Saturn milestone occurs around age twenty-one to twenty-two. Our society labels us as adults at about this time. Laws in many states and countries confer legal responsibility before age twenty-one, but astrology signals the acquisition of the intellectual, emotional and spiritual understanding of responsibility at age twenty-one, not earlier. At this milestone, it is possible to have a romantic relationship that is not based on dependence.

There is a crisis of consciousness in which you balance independence with greater caution and possibly hesitation about going out on your own. You desire to 'go it alone', yet you need a separate identity from your peer group, just as you need to separate from the family in order to become a healthy individual.

Progressed Moon sextile Moon - 10 March 1862 - Age 23

[Long-term effect]

At this time emotions integrated more smoothly. Relationships with parents and family may have smoothed out, and peer relationships may also have flowed into marriage, children, or the development of strong ties to career associates.

Although you felt there were opportunities for you, you may also have felt as though not much was happening during this period. With relationships rolling along, you may have felt as though you were simply coasting through life. You were able to handle stresses more easily.

Progressed Venus semi-sextile Venus - 27 December 1862 - Age 23

[Long-term effect]

Within the first month of your life, you were already establishing social patterns that have carried you forward to the present time. Then you may have had some of your first smiles, a social act that bonded you in a positive manner to your caregivers. You also probably cuddled or patted the person holding you.

Now you embark on a period of extended social contact. Many people experience serious romantic attachments that reflect the magnetic energy of Venus. Even if Cupid's arrows have pierced your heart long before this time, you may feel surges of physical attraction that surprise you.

Arts and culture provide another area for your growing interest. Although your sense of harmony and beauty is still undergoing change, you know what you like when you see it, and you learn new acquisition skills and new forms of pleasure.

A generally positive outlook on life is peppered with moments of poignant feeling, both joyful and sad. You may wonder why your feelings vacillate as much as they do.

Progressed Moon semi-square Moon - 14 April 1863 - Age 24

[Long-term effect]

Now you have inner tensions, possibly due to repressed feelings that begin to re-surface. Although you appear carefree on the outside, inside there is turmoil. You may be rather moody.

Your desire for independence may run counter to the responsibilities you have shouldered. You perceive that you have to make big choices that affect others as well as yourself.

Transit Saturn sextile Saturn - 22 September 1863 - Age 24

By this time you have integrated intellectual development. You now have the opportunity to put what you have learned into practice in the material world, and you get opportunities to apply your own ideas. You probably develop more sophisticated business relationships.

Progressed Moon semi-sextile Moon - 5 May 1864 - Age 25

[Long-term effect]

This is a period when you re-evaluate your feelings about many things. The problem at this time is that you are somewhat less able to see your problems clearly. You are not oblivious, but you are not at the top of your analytical game either. You may feel that your difficulties are more complex now simply because they are somehow hidden from your awareness.

Your responses to life may seem confusing. During this period you probably learn a lot about testing solutions mentally before taking action. Each action may feel a bit jarring to your emotions.

Transit Saturn semi-square Saturn - 25 October 1864 - Age 25

Generally there has been an acceptance of adult responsibilities by this time in terms of employment, completion of school, and social relationships. There may be tension concerning previous decisions, especially if you have formed strained relationships.

Progressed Mercury semi-sextile Mercury - 1 February 1865 - Age 26

[Long-term effect]

This is a growth period during which your mental faculties were on full alert. You grasped new concepts easily, and you could also verbalize your understanding clearly and succinctly. You may have discovered that you were more curious than normal and that you explored new places and ideas with relish. There could have been a thorn among the roses in that you also learned lessons that you needed to learn, and they may have been difficult ones.

Mixed in with emotional changes and growing responsibilities, you now experience mental growth. Your capacity for conscious analysis and reasoning develops through the challenges of work or studies. You refine your intellect along whatever lines you have chosen, and you may change your decisions about career or education now.

If your emotional life is stable, you are capable of intense learning. Unstable emotional situations distract your attention from consistent work or educational efforts. However, your critical faculties and judgment develop either way.

Transit Neptune sextile Neptune - 14 May 1865 - Age 26

[Long-term effect]

There is an unfocused approach to life at this time. You are able to replace familiar surroundings, acquaintances, and ideas with less familiar experiences. There is potential for expansion into new psychological territory. The nuances of other planetary aspects close to this time make the period especially intense.

Transit Saturn semi-sextile Saturn - 2 December 1865 - Age 26

Comprehensive life skills include consideration of physical, mental, emotional and spiritual needs and desires. While there may not be a specific event associated with this minor aspect, often people can point to a single lesson they learned around this time, perhaps something that set the stage for the upcoming Saturn Return.

Progressed Moon conjunction Moon - 29 May 1866 - Age 27

[Long-term effect]

Your emotional development has come full circle. Although there may not be any specific events, you take this time to re-assess your life path. You evaluate past decisions with greater clarity, and you are able to forecast your future responses more readily.

Your natural emotional bent is intensified and confirmed now. This time can feel both more 'you' and more alien at the same time. You are ready to let go of old emotional patterns that no longer serve you in your adult life, and yet you recall emotional incidents that made profound marks on your psyche. Thus your thoughts return home to sort out what you will keep and what you will discard from your past.

At this time you begin your adult future. You very likely accept yourself more completely now.

Transit Uranus trine Uranus - 26 July 1867 - Age 28

Intuition helps you to choose your associates wisely. If you feel pressure to become more independent, subtle psychic awareness and intuition can provide insight into career plans and the people you meet. Your perspective on life broadens as you undertake major changes. You sense the future out there, and you understand that you don't have to do everything immediately, even if you feel the urge to do so.

Transit Pluto semi-sextile Pluto - 24 May 1868 - Age 29

[Long-term effect]

Note the vast range of age potential for Pluto aspects. If you fell closer to the young end of the spectrum, you were well ahead of individuals a generation or two older than yourself. If you fall at the higher end of the age range, you will experience fewer Pluto aspects during your lifetime.

The first awareness of psychic powers developed at the time of the first aspect of Pluto, with the awareness that your psychic powers were unusual or different from what other people perceive. There could be a capacity for telekinesis, as well as a fresh awareness of personal power.

Progressed Sun semi-sextile Sun - 24 August 1868 - Age 29

[Long-term effect]

At this time you enter a period of your life during which your energy undergoes a serious shift. This is a time for integrating new principles into your way of being. Throughout your childhood and early adult life, you have experienced physical growth and shifts in emotional energy. Now you undergo a far more conscious experience of change. The growth at this time also has little to do with physical changes. Instead, the changes occur on the mental, emotional and spiritual levels of your being.

The next thirty years form the core productive period of your life. Changes at this time will carry forward into the future. Everything you do is an outgrowth of the first thirty years of your life. Every activity and learning experience plays a part in your new adventures into the social and business worlds.

Transit Saturn conjunct Saturn - 23 November 1868 - Age 29

The Saturn Return marks the beginning of the most important period of maturity. This is when your productive powers are at their height—a time when you express yourself in the world and are able to achieve concrete goals and make a lasting impact. Life turns outward from the self, allowing you to meet and interact in the world, instead of focusing on internal changes.

During the next 28 to 30 years, your physical effort shifts away from growth and toward work and maintenance of health. You have 28 to 30 years of life experience building the structure of your physical body, your mental capacity, your emotional tendencies, and your spiritual understanding. The next 28 or so years will therefore be significantly different from the first. The Saturn Return is a time to assess your accomplishments and your goals, and to make changes you believe are necessary.

Self-awareness increases and greater social awareness develops. There may be life-changing events, or there may simply be a felt shift in your personal desires and actions. You fill in gaps of knowledge and emotional skill, and you face difficulties while also sorting out issues from the past.

Keep in mind that no one stops being the person represented by the birth chart. However, you now are entering an extended period during which you add nuances to our repertoire of behaviors.

Transit Uranus sesqui-square Uranus - 3 September 1870 - Age 31

This period of your early adult life may be marked by agitation because you push or are pushed to become more independent of family and culture. You choose your own direction in life, based on inner urges and intuitive insights. Your intuition tells you that the future is there waiting for you. Your life experience tells you that you have come through earlier challenges, so you conclude that you are capable. You also sense that while you feel a sense of urgency, you don't actually have to take drastic action.

Transit Uranus quincunx Uranus - 13 October 1873 - Age 34

Your sense of the future undergoes an adjustment. Strong psychic ability may become part of your experience - you sense what others are feeling or you see into the future more clearly.

Progressed Mercury semi-square Mercury - 6 September 1874 - Age 35

[Long-term effect]

This could be a time when you take up a new educational interest. Because of internal tensions, you may find you can focus more clearly, even with the sort of outside distractions that caused problems in the past.

You may direct your attention in multiple directions. This can be exciting yet not result in any concrete forward progress. If you begin to feel anxiety or distress, relief is as close as a new yoga practice or other exercise program. Physical exertion will balance the mental stresses in your life.

Progressed Venus semi-square Venus - 4 January 1875 - Age 35

[Long-term effect]

Internalized stress accompanies your social and sexual life. Basically, you face social stresses that are supremely evident to you, but that may not even be visible to other people. You may believe that other people should understand how you feel, and you find that they often don't have a clue. When you were one or two months old, you would have cried to get attention. You may find that you want to cry now when things don't go your way.

With your attention focused internally, you develop and use your psychic and intuitive talents, and you may find that they boost your level of social awareness. About this same time you may develop a more philosophical understanding of your life path. All of these possibilities aid in the formation of structures in your personal, family, social, and career activities, structures that allow you to manage events and situations in your life more successfully.

Transit Neptune square Neptune - 4 May 1879 - Age 40

[Long-term effect]

Occurring near the time of other planetary aspects, this Neptune aspect can be the source of disillusionment and extreme sensitivity. You may experience certain vagueness in your decisions or intentions, and planning may seem nearly impossible. If you sink into a generally negative outlook, you may be influenced by other people to take actions that run counter to your own interests.

The flipside is that you have the capacity for truly great imagination. You may develop stories into published work, or cultivate artistic or other talents that contribute to your sense of well-being and even to future career opportunities.

Your capacity for true compassion can grow now. Your own inner conflict helps you to understand the plight of others, and to find ways to improve their lives.

Transit Uranus opposition Uranus - 12 September 1880 - Age 41

Many people feel as if this period is the peak of the productive period of their lives. You have formed relationships and may have ended some of them. You have pursued a career path and many now decide that change is needed. Your attitudes have crystallized, making fundamental changes somewhat difficult. Yet you also may undergo experiences that force you to tear down your self-image and build a new one-or you simply shed ideas that have been put on you in order to take up your 'real' self-image.

The awareness you gain at this time can form the basis for new beginnings in every area of your experience. You don't have to revolutionize marriage, friendships, career, etc. However, you can certainly come out of this time with a very different vision of your life, and particularly of what you want for the future.

Progressed Mercury sextile Mercury - 5 June 1883 - Age 44

[Long-term effect]

In early infancy, you had a set of reflexes that reflected your genetic background and also your profound capacity for survival. As early as two months, you were integrating massive amounts of information about the world with language patterns and sounds at the top of the list. You had the capacity at that time to learn any language that you heard on a regular basis, and you were already beginning to experiment with making sounds.

Now, close to age forty, you may find yourself again interested in learning a new language. It could be a foreign language, computer programming language, or a set of symbols like those used in astrology or the Tarot. Whatever your interests, you are now able to grasp and assimilate lots of concrete data and to put it to use in practical ways. Although you may not share your newfound interests with everyone you know, you discover that what you are learning has broad applications in many areas of your life.

Transit Pluto semi-square Pluto - 24 July 1883 - Age 44

[Long-term effect]

How you internalize issues of power and authority presents a potential struggle at this time. Although you understand what you have learned from parents and teachers, you begin to see a new set of power dynamics within your peer group. You may experience a lot of stress as you try to work out your own position and ways to enhance your own power. All of the people in your immediate age group face this challenge at about the same age, whereas other generations may face it a good deal earlier or later in life.

Progressed Sun semi-square Sun - 31 July 1883 - Age 44

[Long-term effect]

Now you face a period of stress and tension. You have had about fifteen years to engage in adult productive activities, and now you may begin to feel some unrest. Where you once thought you knew pretty much everything you needed to be successful, you now find that you have doubts. You imagine greater possibilities, yet experience the illusion of limitation - and perhaps very real limitations as well.

One very real experience you have is the inability to control resources. While you may not actually lose much during this time, you may feel as though you don't gain much either. You resist the idea that you cannot succeed.

The inner voice of your intuition and psychic senses may come alive during this period in new ways. Previously you looked outside yourself to find the answers to life's demands. Now you look inward, where you find the voice of your own soul. If you undergo great changes in relationships, career, or spiritual beliefs, it means that your inner voice is finally making itself heard, and you are heeding its urges. Whether those urges are experienced as mere hints or cataclysmic shoves, you will change at this time and live with those changes for the foreseeable future.

Transit Uranus quincunx Uranus - 2 November 1886 - Age 47

This aspect occurs at about the same time as your fourth Jupiter Return. It signals a heightening of optimism and may involve a sudden change in your luck or destiny.

Progressed Venus sextile Venus - 1 February 1887 - Age 48

[Long-term effect]

The first time you experienced this Mercury phase was at about age two months. At that early date your developmental milestone included gazing into the face of your caregiver, showing that you recognized and were deeply interested in that person. You connected with her (or him), and you experienced a loving response.

At the present time, you are capable of engaging with the world through social means, and also through intellectual means. You may enhance your mental skills through taking courses or attending seminars, reading about a subject that interests you, or exploring the Internet for information. You also may attend group meetings where your favorite subjects are discussed. At work you may get specific training to keep you up to date on new developments in your field.

Because you have cultivated social interactions from early infancy, you are now ready to develop mediation skills, if this is of interest to you. Even if you choose not to work with other people in this way, you now are able to reconcile your conscious thoughts and feelings, on the one hand, and less conscious mental activities or your connection to symbols on the other. You may find your interest in mythology and story telling expands at this time. You observe symbols in the world around you, and you perceive subtle personal meanings in them.

Transit Uranus sesqui-square Uranus - 30 November 1889 - Age 50

The potential for healing may be a big part of your life now. The potential for change continues to dominate. If you have learned to meditate and calm your mind, you now gain insight into the best uses of everything you have learned to this point. You may identify some higher spiritual values that stand out as priorities for you. You have cast off beliefs from childhood that no longer 'fit,' and you are ready to step into the rest of your life with less emotional baggage. You may seek ways to expand your consciousness to include spirituality or greater creative fulfillment. To the extent that you need it, emotional healing is possible.

Transit Neptune trine Neptune - 23 June 1892 - Age 53

[Long-term effect]

You experience a peak of spiritual expansion, opening to the non-material side of your existence. You undergo transformation according to a more ideal but realistic self-image. After recent major changes during other planets' aspects, you may relax into a more contented frame of mind.

Transit Uranus trine Uranus - 18 October 1893 - Age 54

You may have a resurgence (or beginning) of occult experiences. There is a sexual upheaval. For women this is the likely timing of menopause, although you may have felt it approaching for some time. For men it may be a time of re-thinking your sexual activities. There is emotional conflict associated with these sexual changes. You may seek to reclaim your youth in some way.

Progressed Sun sextile Sun - 15 August 1898 - Age 59

[Long-term effect]

Even though you have lived about two thirds of your life already, at this time you see opportunities opening up for your future in ways you never expected. You find that your individual personality traits correspond with events and situations effectively, and you are able to fulfill desires you may have nursed for a long time.

At this point, instead of rushing into new things the way you once might have done, you take the time to think through your ideas and formulate possibilities without taking irrevocable action. You may find that you discuss your thoughts with other people more than before, and you may also choose to consider the needs and desires of others as you make your own decisions.

Regardless of the details of your activities, you very likely put a lot more thought into what you are doing. You know that not all your opportunities will turn out well, and at this time you spend time thinking about which ones have the greatest promise of success. You also may find that you work more smoothly with other people now.

Progressed Mercury square Mercury - 10 January 1899 - Age 59

[Long-term effect]

At about age three months, when you first experienced energy similar to the current Mercury phase, you were actively learning how to use your hands to get what you wanted. You learned to purposefully bring your hands together and to reach out for objects that caught your attention.

Now, many years later, you face challenges that involve reaching out in a somewhat different way. At this time you are challenged to acquire more information, and then to make use of what you have learned. Many people face health challenges, for example, and determine to learn all they can about the physical issues they are facing. Others seek to create or broaden their social sphere, perhaps joining a group that relates to their own intellectual interests.

Depending on the social contacts you have made in the past, this can be an exciting period of your life, bringing new people and ideas into your regular activities and prodding your intellect. In the process you make decisions about what is truly important to you now, and what themes will carry forward for the rest of your life.

Transit Pluto sextile Pluto - 11 July 1899 - Age 60

[Long-term effect]

You experience multiple opportunities for self-development in mental, emotional, and spiritual arenas. Possible opportunities arise to improve health or change your appearance. You learn more about compassion now.

Transit Uranus square Uranus - 30 December 1899 - Age 60

Detachment from the past becomes a reality. You have fulfilled prior goals or discarded them in favor of new ones. Retirement from one career may give rise to a new one in which you simply do what you love and love what you do.

If you have not made necessary changes in your beliefs, you may find that some of your attitudes cause you pain, due to friction with family and associates. Intuition can arise like a thunderbolt, forcing you to change.

The challenge at this time is to anticipate change and to enter into it flexibly and willingly. If you can do this, you find that you perceive the ebbs and flows around you as a more natural rhythm in your life.

Transit Neptune quincunx Neptune - 22 August 1905 - Age 66

[Long-term effect]

This and the later transit at age 96 could signal health problems that are difficult to diagnose. If you are tuned into your own body, you may feel changes coming and understand them better. You may also tune in to physical desires more clearly.

Transit Uranus sextile Uranus - 25 January 1907 - Age 68

This is a period of extensive abstract thought, and also possible social fulfillment. You gain greater wisdom during this period.

Transit Uranus semi-square Uranus - 12 January 1911 - Age 71

Intuition is integrated into your life more fluidly by now. Hopefully you have pursued the mission and meaning of your life, and a sense of fulfillment has occurred. You may undergo an internal process of evaluating-summing up-your life. There will likely be some stress involved due to age. Although you have many years ahead of you, you find yourself thinking about life and the afterlife in new ways.

Progressed Venus square Venus - 9 June 1911 - Age 72

[Long-term effect]

Because of obstacles or challenges in your life around this time, you may feel a greater need for social contact and support. Personal feelings of isolation may lead you to reach out to organizations or groups for assistance, or just for social contact.

Volunteer activities may be just the ticket to keeping you involved and lively. One advantage is that you can volunteer whenever you want to, fitting activities into your own schedule. In addition, the network you develop provides contacts, ideas, and support if you encounter any crisis.

Transit Uranus semi-sextile Uranus - 15 March 1914 - Age 75

If you are an active reader, you may set out to explore a new area of science or metaphysics. Meditation may result in filling in some gaps in your value system. You are eminently positioned to aid younger people and you may feel a special affinity for grade school children.

Progressed Mercury trine Mercury - 11 July 1916 - Age 77

By the time you reach this phase, you have become comfortable with your mental processes. You may relax and not press to extend your learning into new subject areas. At the same time, you may read new material about subjects that have long been of interest to you.

You experience stability in your intellectual life. You are probably not concerned about making big changes in your thinking. Meditation and contemplation are activities that can provide deepening peace for you. No longer urgently pursuing personal goals, you may be more interested in family activities. This is a time of integration within your psyche.

Transit Neptune opposition Neptune - 19 August 1919 - Age 80

[Long-term effect]

Given successful passages through previous aspects you now achieve resolution of false assumptions about the self, reversals of emotional attitude, and self-illumination, as you begin to withdraw into your inner world in a state of serenity.

Transit Uranus conjunct Uranus - 9 March 1922 - Age 83

Your life may become more contemplative now, simply because you are slowing down physically. Many daily details of your life may be handled by others, and you find that you don't care so much about many things that you once did. Changes you made earlier in your life have a strong impact on your current situation, and you experience a symbolic climax in spiritual growth, even though you continue to develop spiritually until the end of your life.

Transit Pluto square Pluto - 28 July 1927 - Age 88

[Long-term effect]

Your age as indicated above tells you how early or late in life you experience this extremely forceful energy. You are now called upon to give up many of the mainstays in your life, perhaps including parents and other family members. You may also make dramatic changes in career direction. There is a potential for ruthlessness in your actions, and yet there is also potential for dramatic regeneration. Your connection to the collective unconscious is powerful at this time.

Progressed Sun square Sun - 7 February 1929 - Age 90

[Long-term effect]

Near the end of life, you face a set of profound challenges. You find that now you are reacting to whatever life brings to you, rather than taking an active role. Throughout your life, you have experienced challenges of many kinds. You have learned to meet them and overcome them in your own personal style. Now you are faced with a deeply personal challenge relating to how you meet the end of your life.

You may measure your successes and failures. How have you exerted your will to achieve your goals? How have you accepted authority? What remaining measure of physical, mental, emotional, and spiritual vitality do you have?

Every year of your life, three months after your birthday, you have faced and met challenges similar to this one. Now the stakes are much higher, yet your annual experiences have prepared you for this year and the following period of your life. Spiritually, this period can be one of the most comforting periods of your entire life because now you have no hidden agendas left to pursue.

Transit Pluto trine Pluto - 27 September 1948 - Age 109

[Long-term effect]

At the time of this aspect, whether early or late in your life, you experience the potent desire to exercise power. You may be driven by unconscious desires associated with psychic capacities far greater than in previous years. Your ability to influence others is great. You may master new technology very easily, and you understand its potential to make you the leader of the pack. It's easy for you to let old habits and beliefs drop away in favor of new insights that suit your public agenda.

Transit Pluto quincunx Pluto - 12 November 1964 - Age 125

[Long-term effect]

You experience a period of striking adjustment to shifts within your psyche. From the age range, you can see that entire generations never reach the point where they experience this shift. If you do, you may even wish you were part of those other, more fortunate groups, as adaptation can prove intensely difficult. However, it is also possible that ideas about your life path may be revitalized as you seek new ways to engage the world.

Transit Pluto opposition Pluto - 29 November 1977 - Age 138

[Long-term effect]

You are one of rather few people to ever reach this milestone in your life. You are capable of experiencing a richer, broader perspective about the meaning of life. You understand social and cultural dynamics more completely, and you have the potential to burn away negativity and to resolve much of your personal karma. You gain profound capacity to forgive others.
